

Max's magnificent progress!

Max has been doing so well in his role as a trainee Financial Assistant, that this week he did the whole job on his own! That's quite a bit of responsibility, handing out pocket money for the whole of school and college all on your own.

His line manager, Philippa (Flip), said he arrived in a buoyant mood and was very excited at the prospect of taking on such an independent challenge. He set off enthusiastically to deliver the money.

When he returned Flip told us he was as proud as punch, had a grin from ear to ear and asked how long he had been. She told him how efficient he had been as he completed task in just 35 minutes. Max told her that not only had he delivered the money, he had also managed to collect many of her missing money bags, ready for next week.

The finance team are so impressed they have offered Max a second job. He now helps prepare the weekly housekeeping money, pocket money and the Daily Living Skills money ready for the Monday of the following week. He will also help bag up any coins, working from lists and will also learn how to use the coin scales in the office.

Well done Max, we are all very proud of your achievements.
